MRS. DORA HALL MURRELL

DEDICATION

To

MRS. DORA HALL MURRELL,

who has so graciously helped us with our many burdens and problems, and who represents, in our minds, all the ideals of a true Southern aristocrat,

we dedicate this thirty-second volume of

"The Intermont"

• FOREWORD •

WHEN your school days have become distant but pleasant memories, we hope that this volume will help to recall your glorious adventures of youth. May it bring back memories, of friends, teachers, and associates, and the golden hours of work and play which we have shared together.

Our Alma Mater

*In Bristol town stands V. I. C.
No other stands so high
Upon Virginia's mountain land,
Beneath an azure sky.
Its towering walls rise from a hill
Where stately trees abound,
And moon and stars keep silent watch
O'er V. I.'s hallowed ground.*

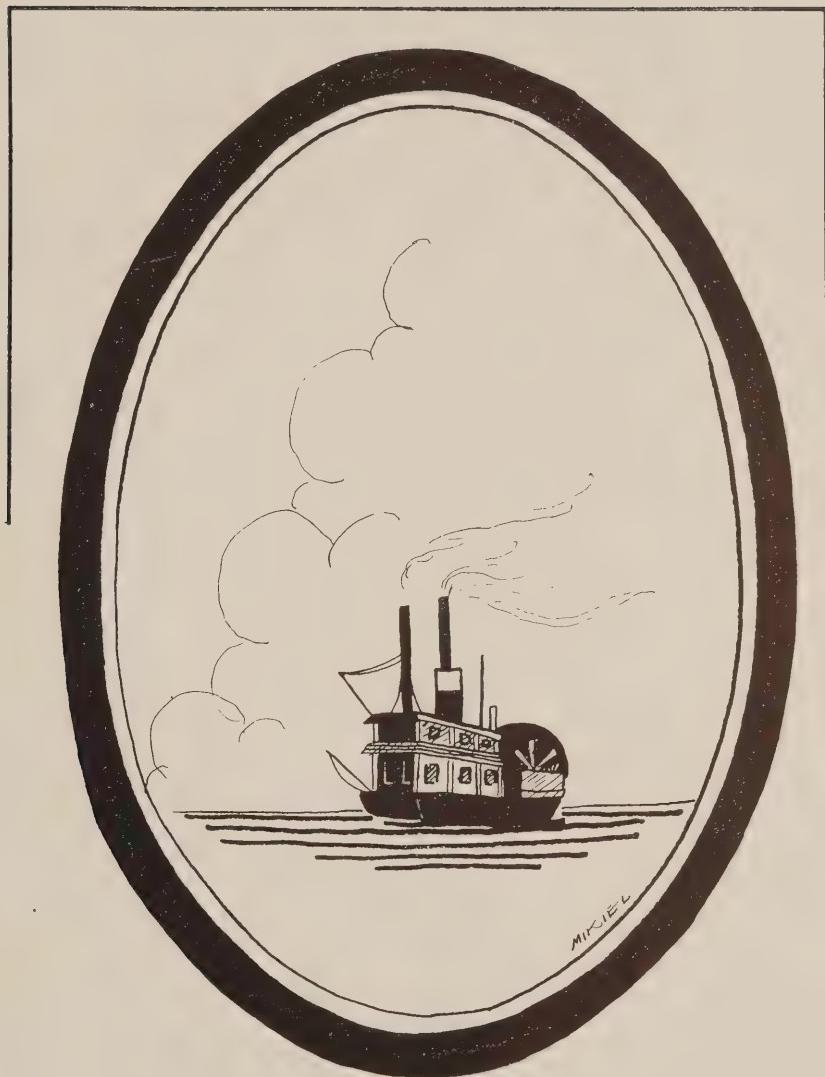

CHORUS

*We are students all of V. I. C.
Our second mother dear
We love each brick and clinging vine,
Her noble precepts clear.
We will always hold its banner high,
Wherever we may be,
And show that we are worthy of
Our own dear V. I. C.*

*When'er the morning birds awake,
Sweet echoes through the hills.
We proudly meet our daily tasks
With hopes and strengthened wills.
When lengthened years bring to our minds
Fond scenes of memory,
A cherished one will always be
Our days at V. I. C.*

Senior History

AT last we are Seniors! Many of us are leaving Intermont with only a vague hope that we will ever be back again; many of us are seeing friends for perhaps the last time. As we look back over the two years that are suddenly so dear to us, we see ourselves beginning those years all over again and living through their mingling of joy and sorrow, heartache and laughter, with an overwhelming sense of loss that we cannot call them back again.

In the autumn of 1930, a large group of Juniors started out together in high hopes for a very successful year. Some of us were new girls, but there were several who were already familiar with Intermont through previous years of delightful and beneficial experience.

As was the custom, the two outstanding organizations of the school, the Y. W. A. and the Y. W. C. A., combined their efforts to express a hearty welcome to the new girls, in a lovely reception.

We interrupted our week of servitude as insignificant "rats" with the pleasure of organizing our class, and selecting officers. It was our great privilege to have Miss Margaret Henry as sponsor, and in Ann Warren we found a capable and enthusiastic president. It proved to be a year of hard work, plentifully provided with pleasure, and very instructive as well as delightful entertainment, such as recitals, parties given by the different organizations, and three brilliant lyceum numbers.

Our crowning glory was, of course, the Junior-Senior banquet, given on May 10. The banquet table was beautifully decorated and the entire program was carried on in an intriguing old English style, as in the days of King Arthur.

Then, almost before we knew it, Commencement had come, and, through tears and laughter, we were bidding our Senior friends good-by, and were promising to meet our classmates at school again in the fall.

And we did! Not all of us could be reunited, but there was quite a brave number of girls who came back in the fall of '31, to take up their dignified positions as Seniors.

It has been a happy year—a prosperous year. Again, we have Miss Henry for our sponsor, and a splendid group of Senior officers. Pauline Downes is our very capable president; Emily Dykes is vice-president, and Jane Kelly is secretary, while Margaret Ligon takes good care of our funds.

We have enjoyed our privilege of welcoming the new girls this year; an informal reception was given almost immediately after the opening of the fall term. We have had the fun of being devotedly (?) served by the "rats," as if we were queens; in short, we have participated in those million and one pleasures and duties that make up college life. There have been many beautiful friendships among us; we have had the privilege of being surrounded by interested and helpful faculty members; we have been permitted to take part in, and benefit from, many splendid and inspiring programs of every type.

One of the most enjoyable features of the whole year was the banquet, to which the Junior Class so cordially invited us. It is hardly necessary to say that we enjoyed it thoroughly.

We have learned many things in our two years at Intermont, and we only hope that we shall be able to carry away something of the spirit of the school with us.

—RUTH BROOKS, '32.

Class Prophecy

*One summer day so very hot,
I slipped into a forest cool,
I lay me down to dream and thin'k
Beside a quiet crystal pool.*

*I rested on the mossy ban'g
And gazed into the waters deep,
And gazing, saw such wonderous sights,
Methinks I must have been asleep.*

*I saw within those waters clear
A world of future history—
Ten years flew by, and there I saw
All of my friends of V. I. C.*

*I don't know how it came about—
'Twas like a magic, talkin' view
Of what you all shall be some day;
I'm wondering if this all comes true!*

*The scene which first did meet my eye
Was of Detroit's towering walls;
Here, Polly Downes, its newest mayor,
Executed fine new laws.*

*Now, Polly had a visitor,
Her valuable minutes filling—
'Twas Louise Carter—but they called her
By a name that sounds like "Quillen."*

*And here was Charis McElroy,
Persuing music—poetry, too;
It seemed Detroit held some charm
For girls from Class of '32.*

*The next I saw was Pamplin-town,
And there was "Ligon" teaching swimming,
Coaching games, and rhythmic dances,
With many happy students winning.*

*Down in Lynchburg, right next door,
Was Dorothy Agee, winning fame;
As editor of the Lynchburg paper
She'd won herself a noble name.*

*Pulaski now is a flourishing city;
Its political "boss" is Virginia Wood.
She maintains a policy of highest living,
And makes the towns-folk do as they should.*

*Virginia Harrison has had a career
Which is truly unusual, 'tis said;
She started to be a designer of gowns,
But she never would sell them: she wore them instead.*

*Sarah Ward is good in advertising—
She has a slant unusual and new;
But she has to struggle to keep her concerns
From being made fun of by "Ballyhoo."*

*I next saw, over in Tennessee
The city of Chattanooga fair;
Here was the home of Mrs. _____ neé
Jane Jenkins,
Who is blissfully married and living on air.*

*Hattie Brown is making whoopee,
Just traveling up and down the world;
In Paris she ran into "Lib" Porterfield,
Who's wed to an exiled earl.*

*Of all the girls in '32,
Martha Truluck has the best time.
She's married and has eleven children,
And adopted enough to make twenty-nine.*

*In Washington, I saw Millie Strong,
Head of a world-famous beauty concern;
Millie, herself, was a ravishing queen,
Vamping the Congressmen at every turn.*

*And, there was Dorothy Fugate holding court,
A-singing songs in the opera house,
And as a painter, she'd won a prize
For a still-life "Portrait of a Mouse."*

*George Sandifer was editor of "Police Gazette,"
And she also wrote society notes:
But George's meant for greater things—
Just now she's sowing of her wild oats.*

*Then there flashed across my view
A school house just then letting out;
Nancy and Kitten, as teachers, made
Two howling successes, no doubt!*

*Down in Crewe was Helen T.,
Happily married and settled down;
And Anna Harrell, living near-by,
Was a giddy, business-girl-about-town.*

*Down near Roanoke was Nobledene Brugh,
She was in a talking profession;
And Grace Reid of that neighborhood
Led a choir with great expression.*

*Emily Nininger is now a preacher,
Of eloquent and noble fame;
Dixie Jo Wade is teaching there,
But "Wade" is not her very last name.*

*Ruth Brooks was an author of no mean repute,
And a great conversationalist, too;
Eve she threw her career away for love,
Was that the human thing to do?*

*Now Becky Frebis was a lawyer,
And sharp as a tool, you'll see:
Her client just then was Winnie Zittrouer,
Getting rid of husband number three.*

*Everyone knows that Hammock Faust
Was always domestically inclined,
She's married now, and keeping house,
The prettiest one you'll ever find.*

*Then, while I looked in my quiet pool,
It suddenly grew very bright,
And in its shining surface came
A wondrous and well-loved sight:*

*I gazed once more on Bristol-town
Which I'd known in days gone by,
When I was a student with all the rest
At our dear old school of V. I.*

*My eyes turned quickly to the hill
And the school a-resting there—
And I thought, as I gazed, I'd never seen
A sight more nobly fair!*

*V. I. had grown to twice the size
It had been in thirty-two;
And Norma Story as architect
Had designed the buildings new.*

*There were lots of goings-on-in-town,
And I eagerly looked to see
Who could be raising so much Cain—
'Twas the day-students' alumnae of
V. I. C.*

*I heard astounding rumors,
Which my ears would scarce believe,
Till Margaret Hawthorne, the president,
Told me this—and she'd not deceive:*

*The day-students all were now prosperous,
And their wildest dreams come true;
Their latest and best undertaking,
Was to build V. I. C. anew.*

*My eyes grew wide with wonder,
And my heart nearly burst with delight,
That I should be able to look upon,
The plans for this wonderful sight.*

*I leaned down close so I could see—
But I lost my balance, alas!
I went flying and whirling through worlds of space
Into my little pool—ker-splash!*

*I'm back down on earth in my forest, now,
And quite cooled off from a dip in my pool:
I've had a swell time with some dreams,
Oh say! Was it real—or am I a fool?*

WHY A GLEE CLUB?

That our students may have the experience and privilege of studying and learning anthems, chorals, madrigals, and glees. Its aim is, that the members may become better readers of music, that they may be enabled to sing the part best suited to their respective voices, that they may be able to form and direct chorus classes in their respective communities. As the school year advances, they may be able to give public concerts, assist our graduating students in their recitals, furnish music for our baccalaureate and commencement exercises. It strengthens the bond of friendship among the musically talented students of our college.

Young Woman's Christian Association

This well-known organization occupies a distinct and important place in Intermont College life, which no other association can fill.

The purpose of this group is to associate young women in personal loyalty to Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord; to promote growth in Christian character and service through physical, social, mental, and spiritual training; to become a social force for the extension of the Kingdom of God.

Young Woman's Auxiliary

Although a Baptist organization, the Young Woman's Auxiliary is interdenominational on the college campus. The watch-word of the society is found in Daniel 12: 3, "And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever." Its purpose is threefold; first, to develop a symmetrical Christian young womanhood; second, to bind together the young women of this college for world-wide service for Christ and to unite them with young women of like interest in other colleges throughout the world; and, third, to give instruction in the methods and mission work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

February 11, 1932, the Young Woman's Auxiliary celebrated its twenty-fifth year of organized activity. A simultaneous banquet, throughout the entire South, was held in honor of this birthday.

THE NU CHAPTER

This chapter was organized at Virginia Intermont in 1926, the first chapter East of the Mississippi. The work of the organization has advanced each year. In February of this year, a delegate was sent to the National Convention in Brookhaven, Mississippi. Interesting activities have been planned for the spring term. Plans are being made to have a permanent room which will be open to the members for reading and study.

Sports

THIS year for the first time Virginia Intermont had a department of Physical Education for those wishing to major in this course, and eleven have taken advantage of the opportunity.

Before anyone had gotten settled to the routine of school life, a very enthusiastic group of girls and faculty representatives met to plan the athletic activities for the year. Other than Dr. Noffsinger, who is an honorary member, from the faculty we have Miss Pflug, Miss Nunnally, Miss Beasley, and Miss McCauley. Student representatives are: Harriet Brown, volley ball; Helen Bane, basket-ball; Lucile Wyman, baseball and swimming; Margaret Ligon, golf and track; Constance Milton, tennis.

Tennis was the first sport to draw interest. Each afternoon found the courts filled with girls practicing for the tournament, and of the thirty-one entries, Myrtle Rowe and Connie Milton won the right to play in the finals. After a very closely contested match, Connie won the championship.

Colder weather brought interest for indoor sports, and volley ball practice was begun. The Seniors, with Connie Milton as captain, won the round-robin tournament, defeating both the High School and Junior teams. The Juniors were captained by Lucile Wyman, and the High School by Faith Carlson. The best players from each team were chosen as the Honorary Varsity, and include: Harriet Brown, Judy Allen, Dot Browne, Lucile Wyman, Margaret Ligon, Mildred McLean, Helen Bane, Frances Blane, Kat Keesling, Anne Smith, Mary Jane Booth, Elizabeth Purvine.

An elimination tournament was held in basket-ball. The Seniors downed the Junior B's, 33-13, and the High School team was defeated by the Junior A's, 42-0. The Junior B's won the consolation game from the High School. The final game between the Seniors and Junior A's was most exciting, and much closer than the score, 22-16, indicates. An exceptionally good brand of basket-ball was displayed and the work of both teams as a whole was fine. Rowe played an outstanding game in stopping the sensational shooting of Harriet Brown, while Ligon, for the Seniors, showed her ability to guard by holding down the elusive Kat Keesling. After the game, Miss Nunnally presented the cup to the winning team, which was received by Captain Kat Keesling.

The following ten selected from the Junior A and Senior teams made the Honorary Varsity and were presented with old English I's (orange chenille on a black felt background): Brown, McLean, Bane, Keesling, A. Smith, Ligon, Rowe, Wyman, Wood, Gillespie. All the other players received block I's in the same colors.

Sports

When, with many sighs, everyone realized that basket-ball was a thing of the past, a new interest was suddenly aroused. Why did so many girls wake up one morning with a "stiff neck"? The answer was found when the tumbling exhibition was given during Posture Week. The program included individual and group stunts, rolls, dives, and pyramids, set to music by Rebecca Gillespie. Among the outstanding tumblers in this exhibition were: Inman, Joyce, Keesling, Baumgardner, Cline, H. Brown, Ligon, Rowe, A. Smith, Berlin, D. Browne, Murray, Blanks, Wilson, Wood, D. Jackson, McLean, Hines, and Hood.

An athletic field constructed back of the tennis courts was the rendezvous during the warm spring days for those interested in baseball and track. After several weeks of practice, two teams, the Oranges and Blacks, were chosen, and these two played a three-out-of-five series in baseball instead of organizing class teams. In the track meet the usual dashes, jumps, and throws were held, besides the novelty races—hop-step-and-jump, and three-bound-leap.

Sports

Tennis attracted many students again in the spring, but Rowe, Milton, Ligon, H. Brown, J. Jackson, McLean, and D. Browne made the highest bid for places on the team.

Much interest was manifested in the nine-hole golf course situated on the campus, and especially in the tournament held in this sport.

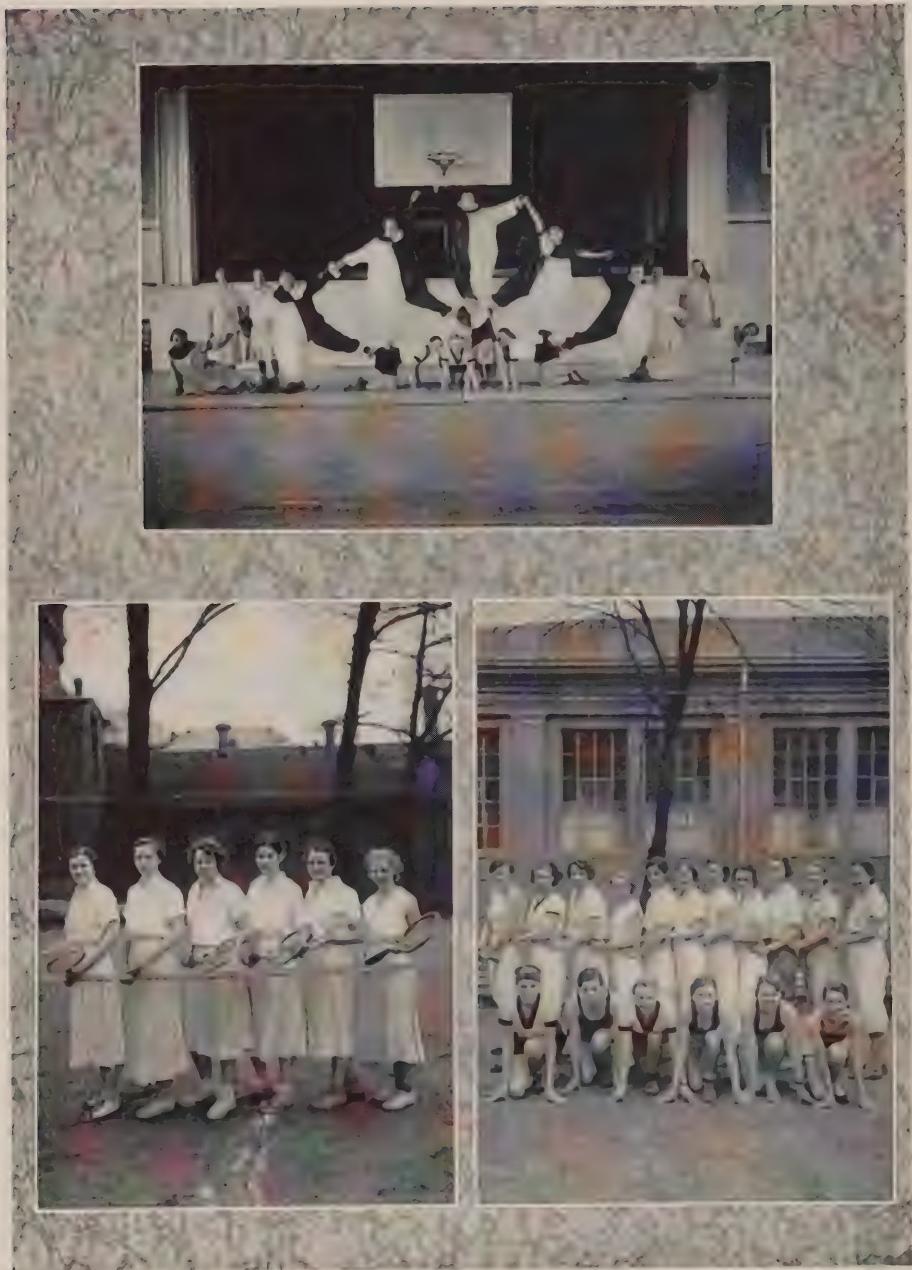

In spite of all the other spring activities, there were still some who found time for swimming and life-saving. Many girls who learned to swim will be able to enjoy this sport during the summer. The swimming meet not only provided interest for the participants, but also gave the rest of the school a chance to see what the swimmers and life-savers had been working on all year.

The riders took many interesting trips around this section, among which were those to Big Creek and Abrams Falls.

A point system was started, whereby a student not particularly interested in any major sport may make a college monogram, letter, or blanket. Out of a possible 1350 points, 500 points earn a monogram, 800 a letter, and 1000 a blanket.

BOOK IV

EACH year this section of the year-book is devoted to the eight girls most representative of Intermont. It is considered a great honor to be one of such a small group, and to be thought of as most expressive of the ideals and spirit of the entire school. The girls are selected by popular vote of the student body, on the basis of attractiveness, personality, and participation in school activities.

HUMOR
BOOK V

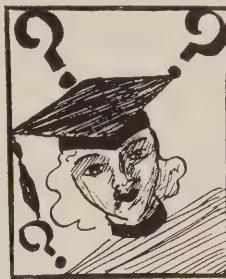

Humor

"Moon": "Say, Nellie, is your home town lighted by electricity?"

Nellie: "Yeah, when there's a thunder-storm."

Dick: "Kisses are the language of love."

Helen: "Well, why don't you say something?"

A SENIOR WONDERS

*"Seniors were born for great things;
Juniors were born for small,
But I have never discovered
Why High Schools were born at all!"*

Mr. Cooke: "Miss Harrison, are you learning anything?"

Virginia: "No, sir, I'm listening to you."

Mr. Brown: "Now what could be worse than a man without a country?"

Clemmy: "A country without a man."

Kat: "I've worked this problem ten times."

Miss Mize: "Good!"

Kat: "And here are the ten answers."

Lillian H.: "I don't like these pictures. They don't do me justice."

Photographer: "Justice? Lady, what you want is mercy."

Maine, where the men are men, and the women . . . shadows.

Virginia, where the men are men, and the women . . . LOVE THEM.

A red light means stop . . .
 Red lips mean go ahead . . .
 Then stop when you feel like it . . .
 Or when you're able!

Mary Justine: "No, Mrs. Owens, that is not crepe on our door. It's only my room-mate's towel."

Mr. Joyce: "My daughter's letters always send me to the dictionary."

Mr. McLean: "You're lucky! My daughter's letters always send me to the bank!"

Miss McKee (lecturing): "Fertilizer is made from bones, as you all know."

Krudy: "It makes tears come to my eyes to think that some day I'll be scattered over an onion patch."

Charis: "Ah-h-h-h-Ah . . . Ooooooo
 . . . eeeeeee."

Hattie (dashing down the hall full speed ahead): "Say what's the idea?"

Charis: "Oh, I'm imitating Lily Pons."

Hattie: "And may I ask what is the significance in that?"

She stopped . . . I looked . . . we both listened . . . for Mrs. Murrell.

America: Washington washed it; Volstead dried it, and Mr. Hoover pressed it . . . and did he flatten it?

ESSAY

A male goat is a billy goat.
A female goat is a buttress.
A little goat is a goatee.

"Just one condemned thing after another," spoke Satan as one imp chased another across the Styx.

Mr. Cooke: "O for the life of a dentist. He can tell a woman when to open and shut her mouth . . . and get by with it."

Clutch: "What does H₂O mean?"

Lucille Terry: "Oh, that's one of those Greek fraternities you are always hearing about!"

Krudy wants to know why her "Pal" is like an answer to a squirrel's prayer, and Hood wants to know, "If her 'Pal' stood with one foot on a dime what chain store would that represent?"

Lula Kernodle informs us that "It takes a lot of pull to be a success in a dairy."

Mr. Martin is reported to have asserted that "A Diving Girl in a car is worth three on the windshield."

And then there was the time Dot Brown fell down the steps and broke her . . . New Year's Resolution.

USE YOUR OWN JUDGMENT!

Flo Buist is so dumb that she thinks a bull session is an agriculture class.

Pris: "May I go, too?"
Mr. Cooke: "Yes, go to."

We wonder what Helen of Troy would have done . . . if she discovered that she had pink tooth-brush.

Bruce: "I'm not the most popular man at college, but I love you."

Polly: "Well, if you love me, introduce me to the most popular man."

Mary Rebecca Gillespie wants to know that if Eve had given Adam a peanut instead of an apple, would we be full of peanut butter instead of applesauce?

Dear Josie:

How are you and Mabel enjoying this lovely spring weather? Only this morning we heard a little bird singing merrily in the vines outside our window, and dear Henrietta said that he was a forerunner of a lovely summer. Don't you think that was a sweet sentiment?

We have been having lots of fun with the girls in our group. Last week we had a midnight feast. Don't ever breathe a word of it to mother—she would be so disappointed to think that I would break any rules. But, oh Josie, it was so exciting! Henrietta and I waited until eleven-thirty, and then started down the hall to Lena's room. You really can't imagine how dark the halls are at that hour, or how squeaky the boards can be. We were absolutely terrified by the time we reached Lena's room, and we had to wait until she unlocked her door. The chafing dish was already fixed up, and we made the nicest fudge. Henrietta almost turned the dish over, and how she did squeal! We were all very quiet for five minutes—the night watchman would have surely heard us, if we hadn't been, oh, so still!

I had my music lesson today, and Mr. Discord said that I had improved ever so much lately. Won't mother be pleased?

We are all looking forward to the finals with so much interest. The seniors are to wear caps and gowns, and they say it will all be so dignified and sad, to think that we are to leave this lovely school, and go back home. But we shall all be lifted up by the thought of returning to our homes. Just think, how much we will all be able to show our dear fathers and mothers—not that they are out of date, or anything like that you understand—but we, of the younger generation, have learned so much about the newer methods of embroidery. Only last week, in our sewing class, Miss Thimble showed us the cunningest stitch, called "laz-dazy." Have you seen it?

I do hope you will decide to come to dear old V. I. next year. Mabel and Lena would be so nice to you, and I am sure you would be so fond of the place, if you would only give it a trial. And I will tell you a secret, Josie. Sometimes when we go to town, we pass the Tavern, and see some of the nicest looking beaus. One of them winked at me once, but the chaperon didn't see him.

With lots of love,

SUSIE.

Hail Lochinvar,

How wert thou? How do the balmy breezes suit your royal highness?
A dratted starling parked in the vines outside our window this morning and raised whoopee for fifteen minutes. Mad? I thought I'd croak! Jo said she thought the conservatory practice was vile, but the feathered varmit beat anything she ever tried to sleep through! Neatly expressed, what?

I was plumb scairt to go to English class, today, since I hadn'a writ a theme in three weeks, and knew not where the place were at in the book, but Mr. Brown merely expressed profound surprise that I should stay awake for the entire period. I was rather surprised myself—since we had a bull session over in East until three this morn. Jo and I prissed over about twelve—made enough noise to wake the Lord Mayor of London, but it was cold as the home of Boreas himself, and stewd gov. was abed, and determined to stay there, regardless. We flopped down on Dot's bed, and raised Cain and Abel. Got all the low down on the highups—more gossip, libel, 'n slander, you ain't since heard. I'll tell you all about it—I jus gotta see the surprised look on your mug. Jane had some hors d'hoeuvres, but we ain't idicated up to that stuff yet. Twas a lotta fun cooking pancakes, though Lillian insisted on flipping them instead of turning them as ordinary, civilized people should do . . . Four out of ten hit the pan on the return trip. When last viewed, the entire room looked like an inside view of a dough factory.

It's about time to don the cape and flat hat. I bet we look like these and those, trailing around in "garments of dignity." Guess there will be the usual gush about leaving the alma mater—although, come to think on the matter, we have had big times in a large way. We sure will be able to show our home towns a few things though, won't we? I know the wildest dance step! And did I meet a cute fellow at the basket ball game the other night? And did he have a cute line? No less.

Why don't youall decide to spend next winter in this burg? Say what you like, I have seen worse.

Hopelessly,
CLEOPATRA.
